

STEPHENSON IS CHIEF GAINER

Lenroot's Withdrawal Gives Marinette Man
Few More Votes On Today's Ballot.

WANTS LUMBER ON THE FREE LIST

Assembly This Morning Asks That Congress Also Take Steps To Investigate The Lumber Trust Next.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 8.—With Lenroot out of the race the atmosphere is somewhat clearer today. The vote taken at the joint ballot this noon showed a decided gain for Stephenson and he now leads all the candidates Esch next and Hatten and Cooper trailing. It is rumored that Cooper will be the next to drop out. How much truth there is in the report is uncertain but his elimination would benefit Hatten and Esch rather than Stephenson.

The Vote.

The fourteen joint ballot this morning was as follows: For Stephenson, 16; Esch, 21; Hatten, 16; Cooper, 16; Baensch, 16; Winkler, 4; McGregor, 5; Rummel, 5; Thompson, 1; Hudnall, 3; J. H. Stout, 2; Frear, 2.

Lenroot's supporters were distributed as follows: For Stephenson, Senators Brown and Stoddard; Assemblymen Kemp, Keyes, J. P. Peterson, 5. For McGregor: Assemblymen Berg, Durley, Ekern, Kimball and Nye, 5. For Hatten: Senator Hudnall, Assemblyman McGregor, 2.

For Frear: Senator Owen, Assemblyman Kay, 2.
For J. H. Stout: Assemblymen Roycraft and G. E. Scott, 2.
For Cooper: Assemblyman McKenzie, 1.
For Hudnall: Assemblyman Clausen, 1.

Absent: Assemblymen Ainsworth, Cooper gained one more vote, that of democratic, Senator Hazelwood probably have a deciding vote of the fight continues much longer.

Lenroot's Withdrawal.
The announcement of Lenroot's withdrawal came just before the caucus last evening and despite this many of his followers cast their ballots for him. The Superior statesman left for his home last night and apparently has given up the race in earnest and will devote his energy to his coming campaign for the office at the primaries. Stephenson has urged his withdrawal and insisted upon it and the announcement he was out is taken by many to mean that La Follette has really taken a hand in the fight for his old friend Stephenson and means to help him.

New Park.

The bill to extend the capital park to Lake Monona came into the senate this morning from the committee on the capitol. It provides that the capitol building commission acquire six blocks in question by condemnation or purchase, and issue for the amount of the price mortgage certificates. The plan is to maintain business and other property for a time, pay interest on the certificates and lay aside the remainder of income with which to gradually extinguish the debt. The property will cost about $1,000,000.

Kill Spring Shooting.

The senate killed two spring shooting bills after vigorous debates in favor of spring shooting by senators Hastings, Brown and Bishop. The main argument in favor of the bill was that Milwaukee hunting clubs had acquired monopoly on duck marshes at Horicon and other places, and were prohibiting the farmers of the state from shooting ducks.

Lumber Proposition.
By the unanimous vote of the state assembly today, it adopted a resolution memorializing congress to remove the tariff on lumber and providing for an investigation of the operations of the so-called lumber trust in Wisconsin.

NEW DOTY FOUNDRY ROOF BADLY CHARRED

By Fire which Damaged Building to Extent of $15,000. Last Evening—Two Firemen Scaled.
 Damage amounting to about $15,000 was done to the roof and walls of the New Doty Manufacturing Co.'s foundry on North Main street by a fire, believed to have been started by sparks from the molten metal, about nine o'clock last evening. The department quickly responded to the alarm but found the fire, even with three streams of water playing on the building, a stubborn one. Two of the firemen—Charles Schultz of the West Side and Phillip Marski of the East Side engine house—who were among the first to enter the foundry, were painfully scalded by the splutter of steam thrown off by the red-hot castings upon the advent of the water, and Assistant Chief Osgood had a pair of rubber boots scorched by stepping on one of the hot pieces. The two first mentioned were injured about the face and arms and secured some ointment from a physician after the work was over. The injuries were not of a permanent nature. The roof was badly charred but did not cave in. The loss was covered by insurance and the work of rebuilding will be commenced at once and rushed to completion according to Victor P. Richardson who arrived on the scene soon after the alarm was turned in. Chief Klein and his men were given high credit for the efficient manner in which they met and solved a difficult problem. The fire was first discovered by E. L. Carpenter who was across the river and saw the flames. Rubbish Heap Blaze.
 Just before six o'clock, in the evening the department was called out to attend to a blaze in a rubbish heap located in the rear of the Brookhans establishment and the Ogden block on East Milwaukee street. SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

LIVER TROUBLE.

A sluggish liver always brings a dull, sluggish feeling in the entire body. When the liver works properly the blood in the body is in a bright red stream. When the liver is inactive the blood becomes dull and muddy, and it is full of poisonous matter.

A great many people try to get a fine, clear complexion by using face cream and white complexion by rubbing things on their faces. They might rub a life time and the same yellow complexion would remain for the liver causes it. Only bright, red blood brings fine complexion. Blood loaded with impurities from the liver sends the impurities out through the pores of the skin and turns the skin a brownish yellow.

To get rid of the dull, heavy feeling and muddy, yellow complexion get the liver to working again. Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will do this nine times out of ten though sometimes it takes four or five bottles.

Here's what a man who tried it says: "My health had been poorly for several years. My face was yellow and covered with pimples. I was bothered constantly with chronic constipation, had little or no appetite and could not sleep well at night. I became weak and lost all ambition. I tried many different medicines but nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Cooper's New Discovery. It seemed to help me at once. Now, after I have taken several bottles I feel entirely well. My face is clear, I sleep well, have a good appetite and am quite myself again."

We sell the famous Cooper medicines.

LOCAL KNIGHTS AS GUESTS OF ALBANY

Receive Invitation to Stop at New York's Capital on Way to National Meeting.

The Knights Templar Commandery of this city has just received an invitation from the Chamber of Commerce at Albany, New York, inviting the Commandery, or its delegates, to visit Albany in connection with their trip to the Grand Encampment of the Knights Templar of the United States of America, which will be held at Saratoga Springs, July 9th to 13th. The invitation is in itself unusually attractive and voices the "old Dutch hospitality" for which Albany is famous. The Albany Chamber of Commerce is one of the most progressive organizations of its kind in the country and is always ready to greet strangers who may visit that beautiful city.

Why, of Course!
 One Sunday morning, in Sunday school, the verse was read which mentions "fowls of the air and creeping things." "Miss B., what does it mean by creeping things?" asked a youth of seven. Another boy sitting next to him gave his arms a shove and said: "Why, babies—you silly!"

Wanted for Ornament.
 My little brother, aged four years, who was visiting, his grandparents, was fond of sugar. One morning, at breakfast he repeatedly asked for more sugar to put on his oatmeal. One of his aunts said: "You don't need any more sugar." Willie replied: "Oh, I only want it for an ornament."

Opening from this room is the library facing on Milwaukee street. Here the furniture is again in green, leather being used, all mahogany, big comfortable chairs and a large commodious mahogany leather covered table. In the corner room, on Milwaukee and Bluff street, is the card room, with comfortable chairs and suitable chairs. Both rooms have Wilton rugs and window curtains. Opening from the card room is the billiard room where two billiard tables will be placed. Crossing this room one finds himself in the cafe, connected with the kitchen of the cafe down stairs by an air tight dumb waiter connected with an escape valve into a chimney to assure no odors will be noticed. Another door from the cafe and also two from the billiard room opens into the buffet. On the third floor, reached by a stairway from the entrance hall, is the lodge room proper, property room and reception hall. Finished in hard wood, with rugs and comfortable chairs and all equipment of Elksdom it will make an ideal home for the Janesville lodge 234, B. P. O. E. Last evening officers were distributed to five more candidates. Frank D. Kimball, Charles H. Gage, Robert Hockett, James Lamb and Louis Avery being the victims. Just when the new rooms will be completed is doubtful at present owing to the lack of workmen. However, work is being rushed along and it is hoped the first of June will see the lodge installed in their new home. At the meeting last week it was decided to have a benefit entertainment for the lodge in the opera-house the last of May or the first of June, the date not yet decided and the committee in charge will visit Chicago to confer with theatrical managers relative to securing a first class production for the occasion.

THREATEN DRIVERS WITH PROSECUTION

Members of Humane Society Protest Against Alleged Cruel Treatment of Certain Janesville Nags.

Alleged incompassionate and remorseless treatment of horses drawing public vehicles in this city was the subject of a spirited protest at a meeting of the Janesville Humane Society which was held at the office of President Wilson Lane last evening and attended by a large quota of the members. The state of affairs was declared shameful by several of the ladies who were in favor of prompt and radical action. But more moderate counsel prevailed and it was decided to give the owners of the alleged maltreated nags a final warning before swearing out warrants and bringing the alleged offenders into court. One of the ladies reported information from a Fifth Ward woman to the effect that a puppy had been tied to a fence and kicked to death by a prominent citizen in that locality who considers himself worthy of a place of high esteem in the community. The woman who witnessed the barbarous act would not consent to go on the witness stand because she was unwilling to court the lasting enmity of this cruel neighbor. Complaint was also made regarding a boy who stoned birds to death on Prospect avenue after first knocking them out of trees with an air-gun.

Quick Wit Saved Life.
 A captured Turkish officer, on being led forth to execution, asked for a glass of water before he died. On receiving it, he looked uneasily around, as if afraid of assassination. "Drink!" said the commander. "No harm shall come to thee until thou hast drunk that water." Instantly the prisoner dashed the water on the sandy ground, and thereby saved his life.—Sunday Magazine.

Devices of Defense.
 "What could be more perfect defense than the device of the moon-hen? She sinks herself in the water beneath an overhanging root or bank, leaving only her bill in sight. And that looks like a fallen leaf. You may stand within six feet of her and she will not move, so sure is she that her ruse will succeed.—London Evening Standard.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Thurs.

day, rising temperature.

THE CITY STREETS.

The Common Council is showing commendable enterprise in many direction and it is to be sincerely hoped that the question of street will command intelligent discussion and action.

The fact is generally recognized that thousands of dollars have been wasted on the streets of Janesville, during the past few years. Object lessons are apparent on every hand and are constant reminders of extravagance and incompetency.

This waste is due to two causes,

and both should have been remedied long ago. The first is poor material and the second poor management.

Why the city persists in using rotten stone for the making of streets, while produces a cloud of dust during the dry season, and a mortar bed of mud, when it is wet, is one of the conundrums which no man attempts to explain.

The argument is used that the city has a lease, and is in duty bound to use the material paid for, but that is the cheapest kind of argument.

When good roads was under discussion last fall, the expert road builders, who were here from St. Louis, visited the gravel beds near the city.

They claimed that no city in the west was so highly favored with choice material for street building close at hand. They said that this gravel, crushed and properly used,

would make a top dressing as hard as adamant, dust proof, and imperious to rain.

This ought to settle the question of material. The city owns a crushing plant, and it will cost no more to operate it on good material than it does on poor.

After securing good material, it is equally important to know how to use

it. We criticize the farmer for wasting money on country roads, through lack of expert knowledge on road building, and then follow his example, and wonder why we don't have better streets.

The art of street and road building

today is a science, which but few city engineers however competent in other directions, have mastered.

What Janesville needs is the services of a scientific street building engineer, for a month or two. Turn him loose on half a mile of new streets, and let him demonstrate what can be done with the material at hand. Let the city engineer and street commissioner take lessons,

then instruct them to adopt and follow his methods, and if they refuse,

ask them to step down and out.

The tax payers are entitled to some equivalent for their money, but they will have to hunt a long time to find it on the Janesville streets. After fifty years of liberal spending, there isn't half a dozen miles of good streets in the city. Main street and South

Jackson are monuments of recent ef-probe has not yet struck the aggregation, when it does, life on the farm

will be worth living.

Secretary of War, Wm. H. Taft, will speak at a banquet in Milwaukee June

10, as a guest of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association. He will also speak in Iowa on the 12th of June. Western people will be glad to meet him. He is growing in popularity and promises to be a formidable candidate in the next republican national convention.

The New York Women's clubs have decided that any unmarried women who is able to support a husband, may have the privilege of proposing without being considered immodest. That's a long stride in the right direction, and should result in relieving the monotony in the lives of a good many bachelors.

Lenroot has set the pace for the four other candidates. Now if they will all step down and out, the legislature may agree on a candidate who can at least keep the senatorial seat warm for the next two years. If they should retire in regular order, leaving the veteran lumberman without a rival, it might convince him that more than age and money are necessary to popularity.

To be or not to be, seems to be the question at Madison. The proposition appears to be Uncle Ike or nothing,

and the problem for the legislature to decide is, whether a vacant Wisconsinn chair, under all the circumstances, is preferable. If the old gentleman will promise to be good, better select him than have a vacancy.

W. E. Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, is having trouble to find an Episcopal clergyman

to officiate at his proposed marriage to Mabel Gillman of comic opera fame. Mrs. Corey, No. 1, is still living, and the Episcopal church has but little time for divorced parties.

John W. Gates has gone abroad with his $10,000 fur lined overcoat. He is said to have lost forty million dollars

recently, but has a little pocket money left and will spend a year abroad in rest and reflection. Wall street is liable to hear from him later.

Mayor Busse of Chicago, has removed his old civil service commission

board for incompetency and is now ready to go after the school board.

When he gets through cleaning house

the city will present a more wholesome appearance in every way.

PRESS COMMENT

Never Again.

Fond du Lac Bulletin: About the only consolation there is for the people in the senatorial contest at Madison is that there can never be another such contest.

The Hardy Pioneers.

Milwaukee Free Press: Three hundred years ago May 13 the first white settlers located at Jamestown, and now look what they've "went and done." They spread almost as fast as the English sparrow.

Not Endorsed by the Masses.

Marquette Eagle-Star: The vicious attack made on President Roosevelt

by the alleged representatives of labor

at Milwaukee will find no endorsement by the men of Wisconsin

outside of the socialist coterie at Milwaukee. The president has the fullest confidence of the people.

Ella's Wonderful Plan.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Ella Wheeler Wilcox would promote the cause of universal peace by having all the women refuse to bear children until the men agree to stop fighting. But even then what assurance would there be that these same children might not grow up to repudiate the pledges of their papas?

The Yell's the Soul.

Exchange: The suggestion of President Platts of Lawrence university, to the effect that college yells should be abolished, leads The Sheboygan

Journal to exclaim, "What would a college be without a yell?" And of course some of the young men may be inclined to answer with a word that rhymes with "yell."

Ex-Chief Collins' Crime.

La Crosse Tribune: The process of prosecuting Chief of Police Collins of Chicago would be in better form were the politics there in it not in it. Doubtless he has infringed the civil service rules, and he may have done worse, but the crime he has done in the eye of the Busse administration is his opposition to the election of Busse.

Easy Way to Cripple Trust.

Racine Journal: The fifteen thousand Kentuckians lately attending barbecue given by the Equity society and to protest against the tobacco trust, should remember that congress

by giving to tobacco growers more liberty to sell to whom minded without restrictions, could materially cripple

the talons of the trust. Singularly these simple things, legislators seldom if ever think of.

Solution of 1879.

Whitewater Register: Why don't

the Republican legislature do as was done with the senatorial deadlock in 1879? After balloting in caucus nearly 100 times, sub-caucuses were held on the same evening, when first and second choices were voted for.

The clerks then got together with their figures, and a mathematical demonstration followed showing that whenever there should be a break

there would be a majority of first and second choices for Matt H. Carpenter. All parties then accepted the conclusion and at the joint ballot the next noon Carpenter was elected.

WILL DELVE IN THE PAST.

Long-Buried Cities of Italy Are to Be

Exhumed.

All the world will join in applauding

the resolution of Italy to disinter what treasures may yet remain under the debris of the age-long forgotten cities of Ostia and Paestum. Both cities were unkindly dealt with by Providence.

The glory of Ostia, chief port of ancient Rome, receiving the corn and oil of Sicily, Sardinia and Africa, was slowly but surely betrayed by Father Tiber and flung contemptuously out of reach of the shallowest ships.

Time, curiously enough, has, however,

failed to rob her of her industry which first made her famous, and salt is still produced in small quantities from the little village of one hundred inhabitants that has stolen the old city's name and pays the ruins homage from the modest distance of two miles.

Paestum is more Greek than Roman,

and one may anticipate that if another temple of Neptune or temple of Ceres lies beneath the heaped-up dust of the centuries it will be Athens and not Rome that will be raised from the dead. Paestum's fate is sadder than that of Ostia, for the Greek colony on Roman soil was early smitten

by malaria and an evil reputation caused her to be buried in a deeper oblivion than the wave-washed columns of Ostia.

TROUSERS UNDER THE BAN.

Less Than a Century Ago They Were Considered Irreligious.

It will assuredly seem more than strange that within the past hundred years the wearing of trousers has been regarded as irreligious. The fact that in October, 1812, an order was made by St. John's and Trinity colleges that every young man who appeared in hall or chapel in pantaloons or trousers should be considered as absent is startling enough, but it would appear that eight years later

the founders of a Bethel chapel at Sheffield inserted a clause in the trust deed ordaining that "under no circumstances whatever shall any preacher be allowed to occupy the pulpit who wears trousers." This is striking, but it is even more impressive to find that Rev. Hugh Bourne,

one of the two founders of the Primitive Methodist Connexion, said of his contender, "That trousers wearing, beer drinking clothes will never get to heaven." And it would need a student of "the Breches Bible" to say precisely when this assumed commotion between theology and trousers began and where the departure from

it will end.—Notes and Queries.

Rights of Employees Laid Down.

"Framers of the earliest laws which have come down to us gave particular attention to the question of the rights of employees," writes an observer.

"Those wonderful statutes which the great Babylonian king, Hammurabi, codified over 40 centuries ago, have law upon law devoted to the rights of servants. If the servants were free born then their rate of payment was fixed for them, their scale of compensation established in the event of their suffering loss or injury. For the most part, of course, the servants of that age were slaves. For these, too, provision was made. If a doctor injured a servant in a surgical operation

he had to pay half the price which that slave cost. If death resulted the master received slave for slave. If the patient were cured, then his master had to pay the doctor's fee—two shekels of silver."

Restricted Conversation.

"I said to myself," said the careful man, "that never again, in New York would I ask a man how his wife was,

he is so likely to have been divorced and got him another wife between the times I have seen him. No. Not unless his wife is standing right in front of me will I ask him that, and then it is not necessary. But the other day, mind you, I met a child I knew, and said to her, "Maud, dear, how are you mother and father?" and she straightway answered, "Why, didn't you know that mamma and papa had separated?" So now, you see, I can't ask after anybody. I must restrict my conversation entirely to the weather."

Object Was Not Purchase.

Managers and clerks in large department stores of necessity have to deal with all classes of people, and they often have most amusing experiences, owing to the peculiarities of their customers, says the Philadelphia

Record. While waiting for an exchange at the silk counter in a Market street establishment a clerk told a

West Philadelphia shopper a story which she has since been circulating

among her circle of friends. "An uptown customer," the clerk said, "last week had six yards of a most expensive silk sent C. O. D. The next day the package was returned to us and upon it was written: 'Returned. I was only teaching my daughter how to shop.'"

is one of the hundreds of pleased people who have chosen Dr. Richards to do their dental work and do not regret it.

She was in to consult him recently and when leaving the office said:

"I have heard so much about your doing painless dentistry that I was convinced there must be some truth about it. So I came to you."

"Am I sorry I came?"

"Well, I guess not."

"Now I have found out where to come I shall never have dental work done any other way."

"I never felt a bit of pain."

If Dr. Richards can so please others, he can do YOUR work without HURTING YOU.

PROMINENT CITIZEN

IS CALLED BY DEATH

James Cleland—Passes Away This Morning—After a Long and Useful Life.

After a lingering illness of four months' duration from a complication of diseases, James Cleland passed away at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fisher, 163 Terrace street.

Mr. Cleland had passed his 87th birthday and was a man of unusual vigor, both physically and mentally. He had been a prominent figure in the business and financial circles of Rock county for over sixty years, having devoted much of his life to agriculture.

James Cleland was born April 14th, 1820, at Little Britain, near Newburgh, in Orange county, New York, and was a third child of Samuel and Jane Cleland. His boyhood and early manhood was spent on a farm in the county of his birth. At the age of twenty-six years, with his older brother, George, he came west and after looking over much of southern and eastern Wisconsin and some of northern and eastern Iowa, they settled on adjoining farms in the town of Center, Rock county, Wisconsin, in 1846. The following year, having prepared a home, he returned to Orange county, New York, and was married to Isabella Bryson. Years of toil and of the privations suffered by the early pioneers was rewarded by a fair competency. Their home soon became known as one where the typical hospitality and entertainment of the west was always to be found.

In 1879 and in the bloom of her womanhood, Mrs. Cleland entered into her rest. For several years after her death the old home on the farm was maintained by the younger daughter, Mattie J. As advancing years made the cares of the farm too strenuous, the home was transferred in 1886 to Janesville, Wisconsin, where Mr. Cleland passed the evening of his life with his daughter Mary and her family.

Of the five children born to Mr. and Mrs. Cleland, four are left to mourn his loss—J. B. Cleland, and Wm. A. Cleland of Portland, Oregon; Mrs. A. L. Fisher of Janesville, Wis., and S. J. Cleland of Emporia, Kansas—Mattie J., who was the wife of F. H. Collins of Fort Worth, Texas, having preceded her father to her final rest in 1898.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Friday at two p. m. The Masons will have charge of the funeral rites.

TALLMAN ESTATE TO

DONATE TRIANGLE

City Will Be Given Land at End of North Jackson Street if it Agrees To Maintain the Same.

At the suggestion of a park commission member Stanley D. Tallman, representing the estate of the late William M. Tallman, has offered to give the city the triangular piece of land at the end of North Jackson St., where Madison street and Mineral Point avenue intersect. The estate has always borne the expense of keeping this piece of ground sodded and smooth and will only transfer it to the municipality on entering into a contract with the common council that the city shall make it into a park and always maintain it as such. The park commission will no doubt have the matter brought before the council at the next meeting and if the question is favorably passed upon they will proceed to beautify the triangle as they have similar parks in other portions of the city.

According to Mrs. Rollins, the doctor prescribed a hot whiskey sling. But after pulling the cork of a bottle purchased at a drug store, she was tempted to take the dope cold. Incarceration in the jail followed and in municipal court this morning she paid a fine of $2 and costs, all the money she had left out of the original $13.50 she brought with her to Janesville.

A Bird's Beak.

A rostrum, as you all know, is a platform for public speakers. Did you ever hear how the name originated? It's rather a queer story. In the days of old Rome it was the custom to fashion the bow of a war vessel like the beak of a bird, and one of these bows taken from a ship captured by the Romans, was brought to the city as a trophy and placed in the Forum, where it was subsequently used by speakers when they addressed the people.

Lynch, formerly cook in a local restaurant and for several years past in charge of the culinary department of Ringling Bros. circus and in the railroad dining car service, as chef. He will be expected to come here about the middle of the present month and remain at the links until Oct. 1. A motor for pumping water will in all probability be installed on the grounds but the proposed electric lighting will have to go over another season. PRICE OF LIFE IS LOW.

London Roughs Will Put Any One Out of the Way Cheaply.

I am told that a £10 note will buy a man's life in London, that any suspicious person can fall into the Thames on a dark night, or break his neck going round a slippery dark corner, or fall under a van, if a little bit of crisp paper changes hands, says the London Sketch. I know that a very distinguished playwright, wishing to work out the plot of a melodrama, went into a high-class den of thieves, made friends with some of the leaders, and unfolded to them as something he wished to put into execution the plan he had devised for his villain's action. He told his listeners that there was a very important financier he wanted out of the way for 48 hours while he played the very dickens with the exchange with the stocks the financier controlled. He suggested to his listeners that an attractive lady and a yacht would be the simplest means of insuring this object. His hearers concurred. They knew the very yacht for the purpose; a skipper and a crew could easily be produced; and concerning the lady there would be no difficulty whatever. "Then, after the 48 hours, we will of course, bring him back," said the dramatist brightly, thinking of his fourth act. A cloud came over the faces of his audience. "Well, guv'ner, of course, if you wish it; but it would save such a lot of questions being asked if he just went quietly overboard," the spokesman suggested.

SECRET OF GOOD MANNERS.

Two Theories of the Acquirement—Unselfishness and Conventionality.

Most mothers hold, consciously or unconsciously, one of two theories about the acquirement of manners by their children. One mother says, "Manners are only the outward sign of the inner nature. If my daughter has a kind heart and a well trained mind she will behave in a gentle, charming fashion. I will teach her compassion, respect for age, unselfish zeal for helping with the world's work. Her manners will take care of themselves." Another mother says, "My girls will never get on without conventional manners. They shall be taught from babyhood to emulate the speech and bearing of ladies. They shall be instructed in the proper behavior for every occasion. They shall walk and dance and write and speak with graceful perfection." Neither method, says the Youth's Companion, produces altogether satisfactory results. Unselfishness is truly the foundation of good manners, but not the superstructure. Many conventional restrictions have grown about social relations. Some can be explained by the demand of kindness and some cannot.

Good Substitute for Bell.

N. C. Goodwin, the actor, described at a dinner a Turkish bath that he once took in Mexico. "My rubber," said Mr. Goodwin, "was a strong man, a very strong man. He laid me on the slab and prodded and kneaded and punched and hammered me in a most emphatic way. At the end, after I had got up, he came behind me before my sheet was adjusted, and gave me on the bare back four resounding whacks with the palm of his enormous hand. 'What on earth did you do that for?' I panted, staggering. 'No offense, boss,' said the man. 'It was only to let the office know I was ready for the next bath. You see, the bell's out of order in this room.'"

BLOODY STRIKE RIOT IN SAN FRANCISCO

NON-UNION CAR CREWS REPLY TO STONES WITH BULLETS.

MOBS FRANTIC WITH RAGE

Eight Men Are Shot, One of Whom
Dies in the Hospital—Police
Are Slow to Use Force.

San Francisco, May 8.—A pitched battle between strike-breakers in the uniforms of car inspectors and strikers and their sympathizers was fought Tuesday afternoon on Turk street for more than an hour. Eight men were shot, among them a policeman and Detective Bell, and one of them died later.

The shooting was done by strike-breakers from car windows, in response to showers of paving stones and bricks hurled at them by the mob that chased the cars block after block, picking up their wounded as they ran. Many squads of police reserves were called out, and with clubs and drawn revolvers they chased and dispersed the mob.

Shooting Makes Mob Frantic.

The bloody affray was the outcome of the first attempt of the United railroads to run passenger cars out of their Turk and Fillmore street barns at 2:30 p. m. A reporter who rode on horseback behind a string of cars saw four men shot from the car windows. The first shot was fired at the intersection of Turk and Buchanan streets; by a guard from the rear platform of the car that headed the string of seven. The bullet struck a young man standing on the curb and inflicted a flesh wound in his arm. The shot was not fired until most of the windows of the car had been smashed with stones, several of which had struck and severely bruised some of the guards on board.

The shooting of this man aroused the mob to a pitch of frenzy. Paving stones and other obstructions were cast on the track, and in that way the car was brought to a standstill a block further on. Hurling any missiles that came easiest to hand, cursing and screaming for the lives of the strike-breakers, hundreds of men and boys surrounded the car. In a moment a fusillade of shots rang out and the crowd fell back. The obstructions were cleared away, and the car proceeded, followed a block behind by two others. The sound of the shots appraised the main crowd in the neighborhood of Fillmore and Webster streets that a battle was on, and more than 1,000 men and boys came running down Turk street in pursuit of the strike-breakers, who, standing to their posts, shot again and again into the crowds, indiscriminately, as repeated showers of stones struck and injured them.

Youth Shot Through Lungs.

At Van Ness avenue a youth of perhaps 20 was shot through the lungs. He pitched forward into the street, whence he was lifted and thrown on to a mattress in a furniture van. He was hurried to the emergency hospital at Golden Gate avenue and Gough street. Still the mob, checked but not dismayed by the rain of bullets, kept up a running pursuit of the slowly moving cars, stoning them and cursing the guards.

Just beyond Van Ness avenue the first squad of police arrived in a patrol wagon. The mob stoned them, too, but presently desisted on being implored by union pickets who shouted frantically: "Boys, don't hit the cops; they are our friends."

The mob called on the officers to arrest the dozen or more guards on the first three cars. Very few of the policemen drew their clubs. They tried to persuade the maddened men and boys to disperse, but without effect.

Offers Himself as Sacrifice.

One union man, who was loudest in denunciation of strike-breakers, created a dramatic scene. While the smoke from the emptied pistols of the guards still hung over the shattered cars, he threw off his coat, raised his arms and wildly offered himself as a sacrifice to their bullets.

At Turk and Hyde streets the guards again turned loose their weapons on the following crowd. In the fusillade a policeman was shot in the back, presumably by accident. None of the strikers or their sympathizers exhibited a pistol or used weapons other than stones and bricks. Along the line of skirmish, from Webster street as far as Franklin, garbage cans were taken from the curb and their contents thrown at the guards.

The first two cars succeeded in getting as far as Market street, where officers from the Central police station in Eddy street arrested the guards and took them to headquarters where they were booked—under what charge the police refuse to say.

Clubs Scatter Crowd.

Second and third relief squads from the Central station, under command of Capt. Scott and Duke, raced out Turk street in carriages and automobiles. Capt. Scott was the first officer observed to use actual force in order to disperse the crazed mob. Leaping from his buggy, he drew his club and struck right and left. After he had knocked down four or five of the strikers and their sympathizers, the salutary effect of his manner of treatment became apparent; the mob broke and began to run. As Scott pursued them with raised club he tripped over a paving stone and fell headlong in the street. At this the mob set up a shout of delight, and missiles of all sorts were hurled at the prostrate man. He picked himself up and gave chase. Capt. Duke, arriving a few minutes later, followed Capt. Scott's tactics, and with half a dozen burly patrolmen, beat back and scattered the crowd, which retreated jeering toward the barns at Turk and Fillmore streets.

Competent observers of the rioting expressed freely the opinion that the tragic happenings of the afternoon might have been in large measure averted if an adequate police force had been on hand, and if the police had not hesitated to use force in opposing violence.

Chief Threatens Strike Breakers. That the bloody events of Tuesday may be repeated Wednesday was the fear expressed when it was made known that the United Railroads' program for Wednesday included another attempt to resume operation of cars.

Mr. Mullally said that when attorneys for the United Railroads visited the central police station Tuesday evening to request the admittance to bail of the strike breakers under arrest for shooting strikers and their sympathizers, Chief of Police Dignan said:

"To-morrow I shall arm the police with rifles. If any strike breakers start any shooting from the cars they will be shot in turn by the police."

"I can hardly credit this statement," added Mr. Mullally, "but it comes to me direct and authentically."

Trouble Feared in Orizaba.

Orizaba, Mex., May 8.—The strike among 3,000 textile workers here has grown more alarming, and fearing that in case of a general outbreak the troops here now will not be able to cope with the situation, a detachment of the Thirtieth battalion from Vera Cruz has been given hurry orders to hurry here.

The Vera Cruz troops are coming on a special train and other troops at that post are being held in readiness to move upon an instant's notice.

RAILROADS ARE INDICTED.

Three and Transit Company Accused of Giving Rebates.

New York, May 8.—Indictments charging violation of the Elkins anti-rebating act were handed down by a federal grand jury Tuesday against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, the Ontario & Western railroad, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad and the Western Transit company. All the indictments contain several counts, the largest number being in that against the Ontario & Western, which charges 30 separate offenses.

It was reported that the charges are based upon payments alleged to have been made by the railroad companies to the American Sugar Refining company. This, however, could not be confirmed. In fact, it was rumored that the alleged rebates were granted on shipments of commodities other than sugar.

COAL LANDS GIVEN BACK.

Valuable Tracts in Colorado Voluntarily

Restored to Government.

Denver, Col., May 8.—Through the instrumentality of officials of the department of justice here, certain persons in a state farther east have surrendered to Assistant United States Attorney General Burch the patents for, and deeded back to the government voluntarily, between 1,000 and 2,000 acres of very valuable coal lands in Routt county, Colorado, for which nearly $100,000 had been offered them, the probable value being two or three times that amount. This was done after careful consultation by these persons with eminent counsel with whom they had advised, and serves to indicate to the government officials that there is a great awakening of the public conscience in respect to lands acquired irregularly in the west.

THAW HOME MORTGAGED.

Mother of White's Slayer Borrowed

$100,000 on "Lyndhurst."

Pittsburg, Pa., May 8.—"Lyndhurst," the pretentious home of Mrs. William Thaw in the east end section of this city, has been mortgaged for $100,000. The mortgage was made some time ago. It is held by the Fidelity Title and Trust company and will mature in three years.

Extraordinary efforts were made to keep the mortgage secret. It is the only one recorded in mortgage book No. 1353, and the book, instead of being in its proper place in the county recorder's office, is still in the transcribing room on the third floor of the Allegheny county courthouse.

J. H. SMITH'S WIDOW IS LEFT $3,000,000

TERMS OF WILL DISPOSING OF $25,000,000 ESTATE.

MANY LARGE LEGACIES

Two Nephews, W. S. and G. G. Mason,
the Principal Beneficiaries—Handsome Gifts to Two Hospitals.

New York, May 8.—The will of the late James Henry Smith was made public in this city Tuesday night. The value of the estate is estimated at not more than $25,000,000.

All his near kin receive legacies and there are bequests to two local hospitals. The will provides for a direct heir, but of this it is said there is not a remote possibility.

His nephews, George Grant Mason and William Smith Mason, are the principal beneficiaries of the estate, receiving two-thirds and one-third, respectively, of the residue.

George Grant Mason was until recently division superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. William Smith Mason is a bank official at Evanston, Ill. The will, it is understood, will be offered for probate at "Goshen," Orange county, Wednesday.

Mr. Smith died at Kyoto, Japan, on March 26, while he and Mrs. Smith were on their bridal tour. The body was brought to this country, reaching this city Sunday night. The funeral was held at St. Bartholomew's church Tuesday and interment was made at Woodlawn.

The Chief Legacies.

The will appoints Smith's brother-in-law, Sir George Cooper, of Hursley Park, Winchester, baronet, his nephews, William Smith Mason, of Evanston, Ill.; George Grant Mason, of Aberdeen, S. D.; and George Simpson Eddy, of New York, and Herman S. Le Roy, of New York, executors and trustees of his will.

The following legacies are made, among others:

To his wife, Annie Armstrong Smith, in lieu of dower, the sum of $3,000,000, to be taken by her either in cash or in securities; to her daughter, Anita Stewart, a life interest in 500 Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company four per cent. bonds of $1,000 each; to his sister May, Lady Cooper, wife of Sir George Cooper, a life interest in 1,000 Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company four per cent. bonds of $1,000 each, the same to go to her children at her death; to his sister, Mrs. Victor Rossbach, $250,000; to his sister, Mrs. John Mills, $250,000; in trust for the son of his brother, George Alexander Smith, of Evanston, Ill., $500,000; to Mrs. William Zickrell, a cousin, of Phoenix, Ariz., $50,000; to George Simpson Eddy and Thomas Simpson Eddy, sons of Mrs. Margaret Eddy, a cousin, of Chicago, Ill., $100,000 each; to his niece, Mrs. Lucy Mason Vose, $250,000; to Mrs. William Farr, of Kenosha, a cousin, $50,000; to his cousin, James C. Keith, of Vancouver, $100,000; to St. Luke's hospital, of which he was a trustee, the will leaves $100,000; to the Orthopaedic hospital of New York, of which he was likewise a trustee, $100,000.

Nephews Get the Rest.

All his residuary estate, real and personal, is to be converted into cash, his executors being instructed to sell his real estate, but to give the first refusal of his New York residence, 871 Fifth avenue, to Harry Payne Whitney, of whom he bought the same. The executors are directed to hold all the residuary estate as trustees in trust for such children, who being sons or a son attain the age of 21, or being daughters or a daughter, attain that age or marry; and if no child lives to attain a vested interest in said residuary estate, the testator gives one-third thereof to his nephew, William Smith Mason and two-thirds to his nephew, George Grant Mason, absolutely.

In case any child of the testator lives to attain a vested interest in the residuary estate, he gives $250,000 to William Smith Mason and $500,000 to George Grant Mason.

Considerable sums are willed to Mr. Smith's servants.

April Excavation Almost at 1,000,000

Cubic Yards Mark.

Washington, May 8.—Nearest yet to the goal of 1,000,000 cubic yards of excavation per month in the digging of the Panama canal was the accomplishment under Col. Goethals' management in April, according to a cable report from the engineer in charge, received at the office of the Isthmian canal commission Tuesday. It states that for the month the excavation in Culebra cut amounted to 879,527 cubic yards, and at the Gatun lock site to 108,000 cubic yards.

MAN ARRESTED AS RAILROAD BANDIT

SUSPECTED OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC HOLD-UP.

ENGINEER SAVES TRAIN

Mortally Wounded by Robber, He Puts
on Air Brakes and Dies—
Story of Fireman
Sullivan.

Butte, Mont., May 8.—William Powers, aged 34, who says he came here last week from Sand Point, Idaho, was arrested near Woodville by a sheriff's posse Tuesday afternoon, suspected of being one of the men who Tuesday morning held up the North Coast Limited on the Northern Pacific near Welch's. He said he meant to board a train at Woodville and beat his way out of the country. He denied all knowledge of the murder and hold-up at Welch's, but he was sent to Butte by the sheriff.

Engineer Clow's last heroic act in turning on the airbrakes, probably saved hundreds of lives. The grade at Welch's is on the top of the Divide, is very steep and the curve incessant. Had both men in the cab fallen before the brakes were put on the express train undoubtedly would have attained a rate of speed sufficient to jump the track and plunge into the canyon.

Caught at Basin, Mont.

Helena, Mont., May 8.—A dispatch to Sheriff Shoemaker here says that the train robbers of the North Coast Limited have been arrested at Basin, a few miles from Woodville, where they caught the train. The suspects are mere youths.

Fireman Sullivan's Story.

St. Paul, Minn., May 8.—A telegram was received at the Northern Pacific railway headquarters here, late Tuesday afternoon, giving Fireman Sullivan's version of the Northern Pacific hold-up. He says that when two and one-half miles west of Welch, while he was putting in a fire, two men came over the engine tank, calling: "Let that door stay open and throw up your hands."

Sullivan did so and called to Engineer Clow: "We are held up." Clow had his back turned to the robbers. One fellow jumped down and shot Clow through the chest, the other one trying to shoot him in the back. They kept on shooting and emptied three guns. "I lay on the floor of the cab until the men left," said Sullivan. "Engineer Clow reached the brake valve and set the air, falling back unconscious."

Clow in Former Hold-Up.

Engineer Clow was on the Burlington engine drawing train No. 6 on that line on February 12, 1903, when George Cole and James Howard held up the train six miles east of Butte. These robbers blew open the safe in the express car and secured $375. The robbers were caught two days later and confessed. Cole was sentenced to serve 20 and Howard 30 years in the Deer Lodge penitentiary.

China's Code.

The strong web of immemorial custom and of a traditional code of ethics would seem to be the chief ties which keep the Chinese fast in the social and political frame that has come down to them. The frame shows signs of creaking. Who will say what may happen, were it to give way? The present system—the system of government by the Manchus and an unregenerate mandarinate—is, we are told, doomed.

Shoplifting Temptations.

Out of ten or 12 cases I have had only one professional thief, and I am convinced that in the large majority of cases where women are guilty of shoplifting it is because a passing temptation is too strong for them to resist. In my opinion, our large warehouses, with their tempting display of all kinds of desirable articles, are a great danger to public morality—London Ideas.

Eclipses.

The stranger from the east was surprised. "Why," he exclaimed, as he stepped from the train in the South Dakota settlement, "the Indians around here look as calm and peaceful as school children on a picnic. I thought they considered themselves bad." "Well, I'll tell you, pard," drawled Amber Pote, "they used to consider themselves bad, but since they have had a peek at some of the paleface folks in the divorce colony, they have taken a back seat."

Science Says We Eat Too Much.

Medical science declares that practically seven-eighths of our ills are due to over-feeding. Colds in the head are often due to eating too much. It may be claimed that our own well-spread boards are meager compared to those of our ancestors. Probably, but our ancestors were hardy and able to throw off the effects of a hearty meal. We do not take into consideration the great difference between their life and ours.

Vegetable Sponges.

About ten species of "vegetable sponges" are now cultivated in the warmer parts of Africa and Asia, especially in Algeria. The fruit is edible before maturity, but on ripening the pulp separates from fibrous material, which then becomes an excellent substitute for real sponge for the toilet, bathroom and many other purposes. The Algerian sponges are in large demand in Paris.

A MAKER OF HISTORY

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM,

"The devil take it, Alfred?" Duncombe answered angrily. "I am waiting to speak to some one who comes here, regularly, and I shall stay until they come."

The woman wrote steadily for a moment. Then she blotted the page on which she had been writing and, raising her head, looked at him.

"It is no affair of mine," she said, "but M. Alfred has sent for the police. They may say that you have had too much wine or that you owe money. In either case you will be removed. The police will not listen to you. M. Alfred has special discretion. It is no affair of mine," she repeated, "but if I were monsieur I would go."

Duncombe rose slowly to his feet and, summoning a waiter, paid his bill. The man produced a second one, dated a few days back, for a large amount.

"What is the meaning of this?" he asked. "I do not owe you anything."

"Monsieur was here with a party last Thursday night," he said glibly. "He promised to pay the next time. I will call the manager."

Duncombe tore the bill in half and turned away. He bowed to the lady at the desk.

"I see that you were right," he said. "I will leave."

"Monsieur is wise," she answered, without looking up.

He left the cafe without speaking to any one further. When he reached the pavement he slipped a five franc piece into the hand of the tall commissionaire.

"You know most of the young ladies who come here, I suppose?" he asked.

"But certainly," the man answered, with a smile. "Monsieur desire?"

"I want the address of a young lady named Mermillon. Flossie, I think, they call her," Duncombe said.

"Thirty-one, Rue Pigalle," the man answered promptly. "But she should be here within an hour. She never misses."

Duncombe thanked him and hailed a carriage.

"Shall I give mademoiselle any message?" the man asked confidentially.

"I am going to call for her," Duncombe answered. "If I do not find her I will return."

To return to the Rue Pigalle was an affair of five minutes only. Duncombe climbed a couple of flights of narrow stairs, pushed open a swing gate and found himself in front of an office in which an elderly woman sat reading.

"Can you tell me where to find Mlle Mermillon?" Duncombe asked.

"Next door, first door on the left," the woman answered. "Mademoiselle is not often in at this hour, though."

Duncombe thanked her and climbed another flight of stairs. He had to strike a match to look for a bell or knocker and then found neither. He knocked on the door with his knuckles.

There was no reply. He was on the point of departure when he noticed that the door was ajar. After a moment's hesitation he pushed it open.

He found himself in a narrow passage, with dresses and other articles of apparel hanging from a row of pegs in the wall. The place was in complete darkness. He struck another match. At the end of the passage was an inner door, also ajar. He rapped upon it and finally pushed it open. Just then his match went out.

CHAPTER X.

DUNCOMBE had the nerves and temperament of the young Englishman of his class; whose life is mostly spent out of doors and who has been an athlete all his days. But nevertheless at that moment he was afraid. Something in the stillness of the room oppressed him. He could see nothing, hearing nothing, except the clock ticking upon the mantelpiece. And yet he was afraid.

He fumbled desperately in his pocket for his matchbox. When he had found

"I am very sorry, monsieur, but tonight every place is taken."

It he discovered that it was empty. With a sense of positive relief he backed out of the room and hastily descended the stairs. The old lady was still in her sitting room reading the paper. She set it down at his entrance and looked at him over the top of her spectacles.

"Pardon, madame," he said, removing his hat. "I find the rooms of mademoiselle are open, but all is in darkness. I cannot make any one hear."

Madame took up her paper.

"Then mademoiselle is probably out," she declared. "It is generally so at this hour. Monsieur can leave his name."

"But the doors are all open," Duncombe said.

"I go presently and close them," madame answered. "The careless hussy!"

Duncombe produced a small piece of gold. Madame laid down the paper at once. She looked at it as though ready to snatch it from his hand.

"Madame would oblige me very much if she would ascend with me at once," Duncombe said. "I should like to make quite sure whether the young lady is there or not."

Madame was on her feet with remarkable celerity. She accepted the coin and carefully placed it in a purse drawn from somewhere, among the folds of her voluminous skirts.

"We shall need a candle," Duncombe reminded her.

She lit a lamp, talking all the while.

"Monsieur is very generous," she declared. "Mlle. Flossie is a charming young lady. No wonder she has many friends. There was one," she continued, "who came here with her this afternoon, but he left almost at once. She added hastily, aware of her indiscretion. 'Ah, these stairs! They grow steeper for one so corpulent. At last!'"

She pushed open the door and went sideways down the narrow passage. Directly they had entered it they had a view of the room beyond. Madame cried out, and Duncombe felt all his vague fears spring into a terrified apprehension of actual evil.

The curtain before the window had been hastily drawn, but the lamp which the portress carried was sufficient to feebly illuminate the room. The tablecloth and a broken vase lay upon the floor. A few feet off was an overturned chair. Upon the canopied bed lay a prostrate figure, the head thrown back at an unnatural angle, the eyes open, but glazed. Duncombe dared do no more than cast one single horrified glance at it. Madame set down the lamp upon the table and made the little room hideous with shrieks.

"Good God," she cried, "it is the little one who is dead!"

Duncombe himself fetched in the gendarmes and waited while they took voluminous notes of the occurrence. The murder seemed to them and to madame to be one of a very common class. The assassin had left no clew whatever behind him. The poor girl's rings had been torn from her fingers; her little stock of jewelry ransacked; her purse was empty, everything of value had been taken. There was not a shred of evidence against any one.

Madame, who had seen the man upon the stairs, could only say that he was short and wore a black felt hat. The officer who took down what they had to say shrugged his shoulders as he replaced the book in his pocket. The affair would pass most certainly, he feared, into the long list of undiscoverable crimes.

Duncombe left his name and address and enough money for the funeral. Then he returned to his hotel. This was the end, then, of the clew from which he had hoped so much. Spencer's warning as to what would surely happen to those whom he might succeed in bribing came back into his mind with sickening insistence. In a measure he was responsible for the girl's death. After all, what chance had he? He was fighting against powers which, moving always in the darkness, seemed able with the most ridiculous ease to frustrate his every move. He re-entered the hotel in a state of complete nervous depression. For the first time he had forebodings on his own account. What had happened to Mlle. Flossie might happen so easily to him.

A man rose quickly from the lounge in the hotel as he entered. Duncombe greeted him with a little expression of wonder.

"Spencer!" he exclaimed. "Were you waiting to see me?"

The journalist nodded. He was not in evening dress, and he, too, had the appearance of a man who has received something of a shock.

"Yes. The cafe is closed, I suppose. Let us go down into the smokeroom. I want to talk to you."

Duncombe led the way. They found two easy chairs and dispatched a waiter for whiskeys and soda. Then Spencer turned to his friend.

"Have you met," he asked, "with any success?"

"None," Duncombe answered gloomily.

"I have something to tell you," Spencer continued. "No, it is not good news," he added hastily. "It is more a personal matter. It is of something which has happened to myself."

Duncombe sighed.

"Go on," he said.

"For twenty-two and a half years," Spencer said, "I have lived in Paris as the correspondent to various English journals. I have made many friends, and it has been considered among all my fellow journalists that I have had the ear of more influential people in politics and society here than any other writer. Today I have resigned my position."

Duncombe managed to summon up enough interest to be surprised.

"I had no idea," he said, "that you were contemplating anything of the sort."

"I was not," Spencer answered grimly. "I am as much surprised myself as all my friends will be."

Duncombe was puzzled.

"I am afraid I don't quite understand," he said. "You can't mean that your people?"

"No. My people have nothing to do with it," Spencer answered. "I have had the sack, but not from them. It is Paris which will have no more of me. I live here of course on my faculties for obtaining information and my entree into political and social life. Today the minister of police has declined to receive me or at any future time, my cards of entry into the chamber and half a dozen places have been revoked, my name has been expunged from the visiting list of the president and practically of every other person of importance. All that I may see of Paris now is from the outside. And there is no appeal."

"But what is the reason of it, Spencer? What have you done? How have you offended all these people?"

Spencer hesitated.

"I don't want you to blame yourself in any way, Duncombe," he said. "You could not possibly have guessed the sort of thing you were up against. But the fact remains that my offense is in having sent my friends up to the Cafe Montmartre on your account and in being suspected of rendering you further assistance in your search for those two marvelous young English people."

"You are not joking by any chance, are you?" Duncombe asked gravely.

"The matter," Spencer replied, "does not appear to me to lead itself to anything of the sort."

Duncombe buried his head in his hands for several moments.

"Great heavens!" he murmured. "Let me think. I can't tell you how sorry I am, old chap. Can't the thing be explained? As a matter of fact, you were discretion itself."

"I don't want it explained," Spencer said. "even if it would do any good."

Duncombe buried his head in his hands for several moments.

THE KING OF BLOOD PURIFIERS

For more than forty years S. S. S. has worn the crown of public approval and has been recognized as the King of Blood Purifiers. It has demonstrated its ability to CURE in thousands upon thousands of cases of blood and skin diseases until it is regarded today as the most reliable and safest of all blood medicines.

Pure blood means strong, vigorous bodies, well nourished systems, steady nerves, and all the machinery of life working in harmony with nature—thus insuring perfect health. Impure or diseased blood means the opposite of all this; any impurity, humor or poison in this vital fluid acts injuriously on the system and affects the general health. Pustular eruptions, pimples, rashes and the various skin affections show that the blood is in a feverish and diseased condition, as the result of too much acid or the presence of some irritating humor. Chronic Sores and Ulcers are the result of morbid, unhealthy matter in the blood, while Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are all deep-seated blood disorders that continue to grow worse as long as the poisons which produce them remain in the blood.

All blood troubles are not acquired.

Through the blood disease germs are transmitted from one generation to another. Parents hand down a tainted circulation to their children, and we see its effects manifested in various ways. The skin has a waxy, pallid appearance, the eyes are often weak, glands of the neck enlarged, and as the taint has been in the blood since birth, the entire health is usually affected, and the system weakened from want of nourishing, health-giving blood.

In all blood troubles S. S. S. has proven itself "The King of Blood Purifiers."

It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, humors, waste or foreign matter, and makes this life-stream pure and health-sustaining. Nothing reaches inherited blood troubles like S. S. S.; it removes every particle of the taint, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, supplies it with the healthful properties it needs and establishes the foundation for good health. As a tonic S. S. S. has no equal, and it will be found especially bracing to weak, anaemic persons.

One of the greatest points in favor of S. S. S. is that it is purely vegetable, made from nature's healing, cleansing, health-producing roots, herbs and barks. It is the one medicine that may be taken with absolute safety by the youngest child or the oldest member of the family.

Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles are cured permanently by S. S. S., and so thorough is the cleansing of the blood that no trace of the disease is left to break out in future years, or to be transmitted to offspring. If your blood is out of order begin the use of S. S. S., The King of Blood Purifiers, and restore this vital fluid to its normal healthy condition, and enjoy the blessing of good health. Book on the blood and any special medical advice desired will be furnished free of charge to all who write.

WAS WAR IN THE STEERAGE

Chinese and Russians Have Bloody Fights—State of Mutiny Exists on Vessel.

STEAMER MAORI KING STOPS AT SAN DIEGO FOR HELP.

San Diego, Cal., May 8.—With 921 Chinese steerage passengers at war with 212 Russian steerage passengers, all on their way from Vladivostok and Shanghai to Mazatlan and Guaymas, the British steamer Maori King put in here Tuesday in distress.

A virtual state of mutiny exists on board the vessel, and the ship is now lying at quarantine guarded by immigration custom officials, while awaiting settlement of the matter.

Capt. Duncan, who sighted the pier at Coronado, thought he could land there and get into shoal water. The sea was calm, but the tide was falling and the first report was that he was aground. He finally entered the harbor and reported his condition.

Trouble began soon after the steamer left Shanghai between the Chinese and the Le Sun Lai, an immigration contractor, and the steerage passengers threatened to take the ship and run it back to China. The dispute was quieted, but trouble broke out again when a boxer stabbed a coolie. On Friday last one of the Russians struck a Chinaman and laid his head open.

Capt. Duncan, aided by British Consul Hitchcock, hopes to get a guard on board to help him on the rest of his trip.

JEWEL MIXED PAINT---HANDSOME AND DURABLE SHADES

Manufactured from a scientific combination of pure linseed oil, white lead, zinc and the necessary colors to produce the tints. A single trial will convince you that this Paint is all we claim, being far superior in body, more lasting, and will retain its color and lustre longer than strictly pure lead and oil mixed by hand. It is uniform in shade and consistency, and will not fade unevenly. It is a desirable paint to use on account of its spreading and covering properties and great durability.
